Service of Worship

Eleventh Sunday after Pentecost

August 12, 2007

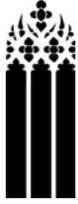

Eleven o'clock in the morning

∞ Keeping the heart of the University listening to the heart of God ∞

"Abraham Journeying into the land of Canaan," by Gustave Doré, 1865

As hard as it may be to define, the scripture lesson today from Hebrews speaks to a definition of faith: "the assurance of things hoped for, the conviction of things not seen." The passage draws on the story of Abraham to reveal that such faith is not a step into the dark unknown, but a trusting in God's light and promise. The gospel lesson from Luke also speaks to God's provision by encouraging disciples to invest their lives in the things that matter: "make purses for yourselves that do not wear out, an unfailling treasure in heaven." The lesson also carries with it an urgency to be prepared and ready for God's coming presence.

DUKE UNIVERSITY CHAPEL

Duke Chapel is a grand building, suitable for hosting major events in the life of the University and its members; it acts as a moderator for the diversity of religious identity and expression on campus; and it is a Christian church of an unusually interdenominational character, with a tradition of stirring music, preaching, and liturgy. We welcome you to our life of worship, learning, dialogue, and service.

*THE LORD'S PRAYER (number 895 in the hymnal, in unison)

SHARING OF THE BREAD AND WINE

All those who have become members of Christ's body through baptism and seek to be united with God and at peace with their neighbor are invited to receive communion. Wine is used for communion. The tradition as understood at Duke Chapel is that the Holy Spirit makes Christ fully present in both the bread and the wine. If you receive only the bread, be assured that you are nonetheless in full communion with Christ and the Church.

If you would like to receive individual anointing with oil and prayers for healing, ministers will be in the Memorial Chapel during communion.

WELCOME EMILY—This week the Chapel welcomed Emily Wilson-Hauger as the new Staff Assistant to the Deans and Faith Council Program Coordinator. Emily earned her bachelors degree in Christian Ministries from Messiah College in May 2006, and she spent the last year as the Interim Director of the Brethren in Christ and Messiah College Archives and Historical Library in Grantham, PA.

FAITH AND MONEY REGIONAL GATHERING—If you are interested in exploring how you spend time, money, and goods in light of your Christian faith, you are invited to attend a regional gathering to examine these issues and to learn about socially responsible investing. Dean Sam Wells will be speaking. The event will be held at Watts Street Baptist Church, Room 102, located at 800 Watts Street, Durham. Questions? Contact John Parker at johnparker@nc.rr.com.
