

DUKE
UNIVERSITY
CHAPEL

Service of Worship

Ninth Sunday After Pentecost

August 14, 2011

Eleven o'clock in the morning

∞ Keeping the heart of the University listening to the heart of God ∞

"The Canaanite Woman," by Jean Colombe, 1485-89.

In Genesis, we read the story of Joseph, no longer the arrogant youth sold into slavery by his brothers so many years before. In today's lesson Joseph rules over Egypt, and the expansive vision of God comes to light. His brothers may have intended harm for Joseph, but God redeemed his plight and continued the promise to Abraham through Joseph. The Israelite family tree was not uprooted. In the gospel lesson from Matthew, the story of Jesus and the Canaanite woman suggests that it is not the external actions that determine purity before God, but the internal disposition of the heart. A heart properly disposed towards God has deeper roots than those who only worship through external actions.

At the close of today's service, the Lord's Supper will be celebrated in the Memorial Chapel located to the left of the chancel. Immediately following the Lord's Supper, a service of prayer for healing will be held. The service consists of prayers for healing and wholeness, with anointing and laying on of hands. All are invited.

The congregation is asked to remain silent during the prelude as a time of prayer and meditation.
