

DUKE
UNIVERSITY
CHAPEL

Service of Worship

Seventh Sunday after the Epiphany
February 20, 2011
Eleven o'clock in the morning

∞ Keeping the heart of the University listening to the heart of God ∞

Christians sometimes believe that the God of the Old Testament is somehow different from the “loving” God of the New Testament. This is a heresy that was dismissed by the earliest Christians. The passage in Leviticus shows compassion has always characterized God’s law. God commands that farmers leave the edges of the field and some fruit unharvested, so that the poor and alien may glean them for food. It is in Leviticus that followers are instructed to love neighbors as they love themselves. In Matthew’s gospel, Jesus intensifies and expands the demands of the law, commanding that followers turn the other cheek, go the extra mile, and extend love not only to neighbors, but to enemies and persecutors too.

At the close of today's service, the Lord's Supper will be celebrated in the Memorial Chapel located to the left of the chancel. Immediately following the Lord's Supper, a service of prayer for healing will be held. The service consists of prayers for healing and wholeness, with anointing and laying on of hands. All are invited.

The congregation is asked to remain silent during the prelude as a time of prayer and meditation.

CHAPEL ANNOUNCEMENTS

TODAY'S FLOWERS—The flowers for the worship service today are given to the glory of God by the Erlenbach Family Trust.

TODAY'S OFFERING—All of today's cash offerings and undesignated checks will be used to support the Chapel's PathWays program which offers undergraduates and recent graduates opportunities to discern God's call for their lives through study, counsel, service, and community. With the conclusion of the Lilly grant, we now support 100% of PathWays' expenses.

ORGAN RECITAL TODAY—This evening at 5:00 p.m., James Moeser will present a recital in Duke Chapel on the Flentrop and Aeolian organs. Dr. Moeser was a well-known concert organist before assuming the duties of a university administrator, most recently as Chancellor of the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill. His program will feature works by Bach, Couperin, Franck, Schumann, and Mulet. The event is free and open to the public.

"THE CALLING"—On Thursday, February 24 at 7:00 p.m., there will be a film screening of the film "The Calling," followed by a discussion with filmmaker Danny Alpert. This event is being held in Room 0016 of the Westbrook Building in the Divinity School, and is sponsored by Duke Chapel PathWays and the Faith Council. Join seven young, vibrant, thoughtful, and vastly different Americans as they embark on the most extraordinary journey of their lives. Representing Jewish, Muslim, Catholic, and Protestant faiths, each of these students have been ignited by the "call" to serve humanity and have decided to join the clergy. For more information, visit www.whatsyourcalling.org/the-film.

PATHWAYS SUMMER INTERNSHIPS OR 10-MONTH FELLOWSHIPS—Attention students and young alumni/ae who are interested in listening to the heart of God while living in the heart of Durham: apply today to be a PathWays Summer Intern or a 10-month Fellow. Interns and fellows enjoy living in the PathWays House while working in the private or public sector, in nonprofits, churches, and faith-based organizations. This is an opportunity to deepen faith while exploring vocation in Christian community and growing in friendship with our neighbors in Durham. Stipend and housing are provided. For an application and details, visit www.chapel.duke.edu/pathways, or contact the Rev. Keith Daniel, kd1@duke.edu.
