Second Sunday of Easter

Duke Alumni Weekend

April 15, 2007

Keeping the heart of the University listening to the heart of God

The PathWays program at Duke Chapel is designed to help students connect their deepest values, faith, and gifts with the world's needs. This morning the Chapel will commission seven PathWays summer interns. These students will spend their summer living in Christian community with one another while serving internships at local nonprofit organizations as a way to develop relationships with the Durham community. This presents another opportunity for Duke Chapel and the poorer parts of Durham to become more visible to one another. This weekend is also Alumni weekend at Duke, and today we welcome all Duke alumni to this service of worship.

DUKE UNIVERSITY CHAPEL

Duke Chapel is a grand building, suitable for hosting major events in the life of the University and its members; it acts as a moderator for the diversity of religious identity and expression on campus; and it is a Christian church of an unusually interdenominational character, with a tradition of stirring music, preaching, and liturgy. We welcome you to our life of worship, learning, dialogue, and service.

RESPONSE

PATHWAYS COMMISSIONING OF SUMMER INTERNS

The Rev. Daniel: The role of the PathWays Interns is to spend the summer exploring vocation through communal life in the West End neighborhood and employment in nonprofit organizations in Durham. Is this your understanding of the role to which you have been called?

Interns: It is.

The Rev. Daniel: The Lord bless you with courage, faith, and mutual forbearance as you seek God and seek to make God known.

People: Amen.

Dean Wells: At Duke Chapel, we celebrate our friendships with those who long for reconciliation and social healing. Here today are many whose lives of service demonstrate concern for local neighborhoods, many who care deeply about the Durham community, and many whose lives are being gently transformed. We invite those individuals to come forward. Do you believe God is at work in the Durham community?

People: We do.

Dean Wells: Loving God, bless all those for whom today marks a significant beginning and all those who inspire us in their abiding commitment to the Durham community. Teach us how to walk in your footsteps, day by day.

OFFERTORY

Hark, I Hear the Harps Eternal

Traditional
Arr. Alice Parker
(b. 1925)

Hark, I hear the harps eternal
Ringing on the farther shore,
As I near those swollen waters,
With their deep and solemn roar.

Hallelujah, Hallelujah,
Hallelujah, praise the Lamb,
Hallelujah, Hallelujah,
Glory to the great I Am.

And my soul, though stained with sorrow,
Fading as the light of day,
Passes swiftly o'er those waters
To the city far away.

Souls have crossed before me, saintly,
To that land of perfect rest;
And I hear them singing faintly
In the mansions of the blest.

*DOXOLOGY

LASST UNS ERFREUEN

Praise God from whom all blessings flow;
Praise God, all creatures here below; Alleluia, Alleluia!
Praise God above, ye heavenly host,
Praise Father, Son and Holy Ghost. Alleluia, Alleluia,
Alleluia, Alleluia, Alleluia.

THANKSGIVING

This morning we give thanks for the Department of Economics and the ways they train students to understand the flow of commerce and the sharing of resources for the good of society. Departmental representatives bring to the altar a photo of the social sciences building, which houses the department.

Today we also offer thanks for those whose lives of service demonstrate concern for the Durham community and for local neighborhoods, specifically through the work of the Duke-Durham Neighborhood Partnership. A map of Durham is brought to the altar.
