

DUKE
UNIVERSITY
CHAPEL

Service of Worship

Nineteenth Sunday after Pentecost
October 11, 2009
Eleven o'clock in the morning

∞ Keeping the heart of the University listening to the heart of God ∞

"Job on the dunghheap," by Jan Lievens, 1631.

The Book of Job is the story of a man broken by hardship. In today's reading, Job is heavy with bitterness and bewilderment, and he longs to find God, but God remains hidden. In Psalm 22, the psalmist cries out "My God, my God, why have you forsaken me? Why are you so far from helping me, from the words of my groaning?" These words echo Job's sense of abandonment and anticipate Jesus' suffering on the cross. Hebrews offers hope that in Jesus, we worship a God who "sympathizes with our weaknesses," and who is merciful to us in our time of need.

At the close of today's service, the Lord's Supper will be celebrated in the Memorial Chapel located to the left of the chancel. Immediately following the Lord's Supper, a service of prayer for healing will also be held. The service consists of prayers for healing and wholeness, with anointing and laying on of hands. All are invited.

The congregation is asked to remain silent during the prelude as a time of prayer and meditation.

Pilgrims' Hymn

Stephen Paulus
(b. 1949)

Even before we call on your name to ask you, O God,
When we seek for the words to glorify you, you hear our prayer;
Unceasing love, O unceasing love, surpassing all we know.
Glory to the Father, and to the Son, and to the Holy Spirit.

Even with darkness sealing us in, we breathe your name,
And through all the days that follow so fast, we trust in you;
Endless your grace, O endless your grace, beyond all mortal dream.
Both now and for ever, and unto ages and ages, Amen.

RESPONSE

*THE APOSTLES' CREED

I believe in God the Father Almighty, maker of heaven and earth;

And in Jesus Christ his only Son our Lord; who was conceived by the Holy Spirit, born of the Virgin Mary, suffered under Pontius Pilate, was crucified, dead, and buried; the third day he rose from the dead; he ascended into heaven, and sitteth at the right hand of God the Father Almighty; from thence he shall come to judge the quick and the dead.

I believe in the Holy Spirit, the holy catholic church, the communion of saints, the forgiveness of sins, the resurrection of the body, and the life everlasting. Amen.

THANKSGIVING

This morning we give thanks for the Department of Sociology. We celebrate its goal to increase understanding of social change and social differences, to foster tolerance, and to allow for individual and collective responses that support equity and human development. The ushers bring a fact sheet from the American Sociological Association to the altar.

In Durham, we remember organizations that provide access to capital for first-time homeowners and small businesses. The ushers bring forward a house key.
